IF YOU ARE GOING TO HOLD ONTO THE PET:

1. Contact Local Animal Control - File a found pet report with a picture if possible. All owners looking for their pets are encouraged to keep checking through shelters' lost and found listings.
2. Get pet scanned for microchip at a Vet or Animal Shelter.
3. *(If has microchip) Go to Petmicrochiplookup.org and enter the chip #, then it will generate which company to call. If the animal is registered, the company can contact the owner for you.
4. Make posters and put them everywhere you can. Pet Stores, Vet Offices, Phone Poles, Dog Parks, Parks... Hand out flyers to neighbors and your mail carrier.
5. *Make sure to ask for PROOF OF OWNERSHIP if someone shows up to claim the pet.
(Photos, Vet Records, Rabies Info or Microchip Info)
6. Check the 'Lost and Found' section on www.craigslist.org. Also, check FindingRover.com to see if your lost pet has been located.

DO NOT introduce the found pet to your personal pets, and limit contact until the found animal has been seen by a veterinarian. Animals can harbor many diseases and illnesses that are not visible until seen by a veterinarian.

*PLEASE DO NOT GIVE THE PET AWAY TO JUST ANYONE,
SOMEONE MAY BE SEARCHING VERY HARD FOR THEIR LOST PET*
